In the absence of any statement from Captain FOURNIER it was at that time impossible to come to any satisfactory conclusion; but, anticipating Captain Four. clusive evidence to establish the real facts of the case will be forthcoming. The Courier, commenting on the letter, says:-

Messrs. Ma and Lo have come out, with a somewhat suspicious promptitude, with the categorical assertion that they saw Captain Fournier make the cresures which he as categorically denies. Captain Fournier is a French naval officerand a gentleman per excellence, and it is simply impossible for a man with the reputation for honour and integrity that he has with every body who knows him, to have made an assertion that is not absolutely true. The morning organ talks of Ma and Lo as Li's witnesses, and regrete that Captain Fournier had no witness with him, as if his word required it: Ma and Lo are not Li's witnesses but his tools; their lives and means of existence are in the Viceroy's hand, and they dare not give any syldenee that would displease their powerful patron. A strict regard for truth has never been considered a Chinese virtue, and it is absurd to weigh for a moment the word of two creatures like Ma and Lo against the assortion of Captain Fournier. This, it will be observed, is a simple begging of the question. The Courier's case is that either the Vicercy Lz or Captain FOURNIER has told an untruth, that Captain ForentER could not possibly tell an untruth, and that therefore Li must be the guilty party. This can scarcely be called argument. On the other side it is impossible not to see that if Capthin FOURNIER did really make the erasures and were disposed to deny the fact, be had every motive for so doing. The document itself, according to the fac simile which has been published, would have disgraced any negotiator on account of the carelessness displays: but this is a mere trifle. serious part is that if the Chinese statement be true, and Captain Fourniss did make the erusures, he becomes individually re- lost as it is a densely populated neighbourhood. sponsible for the disaster at Lingson and ull the results which have ensued from it. This is a responsibility that any man would) be inclined to escape, though an benourable man would not descend to untruthfulness in order to do so. We should be very leth to. think that Captain Fournizs would dear anything he had actually done, but on the other hand it must in fairness be admitted that LI HUNG-CHANG has quite as good a case. If either or both were arraigned before a jury on a charge of untruthfulness, on, the evidence so far available, the only regdict that could be given would bathat in the Scotch form of "not proven."

Some anxiety has been felt in the colony with regard to the steamer Glenaron, as she was yesterday eleven days out from Singapore, and there was every reason to suppose she had encountered the late typhoon on the way up. About seven days would be as much as she would be expected to take for the run, and her non-appearance gave rise to a good deal of uneasiness, especially as she has a number of passengers on board coming to meet friends in this colony. The French mail steamer Natal, however, reports having passed a large steamer proceeding slowly under steam when two days out from Saigon, and this is believed to be the Glenavon. If this proves to be the case, she will probably be here to-day or to-morrow. Another steamer is giving rise to very serious misgivings as to her safety, and that is the C. T. Hook, which has not turned up, though she is reported to be a still longer time out from Saigon.

Twelve German officers for the Chinese navy embarked on board the Chôn-hai, despatch vessel, on the 11th November for Port Arthur. Mesers. Rousell & Co.'s steamer Pautah is expected to winter at Tientsin to undergo repairs in the Naval Dock at Take. ing of the credit. M. Clémenceau deprecated an expedition to China, and was for restricting the French operations as far as would be consistent with military honour. An expedition to China he regarded ase a step jeopardizing France in Europe. M. Andrioux remarked that French successes in Tonquin had simply provoked the despatch of fresh Chinese troops. It was high time to wind sufficient to bring the undertaking to a speedy and. If 50,000,000f, or even more were required to force China into a peace the Government shoul

M. Granet considered the credit inadequate. and dwelt on the necessity for plain Ministerial explanations: M. Périn charged M. Ferry with having deceived the Chamber; held that France was really at war with China, though in an underhand way; argued that if arbitration had been rejected fresh reinforcements were necessary. and maintained that the life and trossure sacrificed in Tonquin would be thrown away. Ho advocated mediation and an honourable settlement with China followed by the French evaquation of Tonquin.

As for the Ministerial members, they too pressed for the speedy winding up of the affair, even though this should necessitate the proposing of much larger credits. M. Mazé, for instance, urged that a grand blow should be struck, and was supported by M. Dureau. M. Cavaignao, a kinsman of the Cavaignae of 1848, contended on the other hand that no grand blow was necessary, that the forces in Tonquin were strong enough to hold their ground, and that to treat with China was needless and neeless, for she would broak any treaty concluded with her. Among the unsuccessful candidates were M. Richard Waddington (the Ambassador's brother) who while willing to vote larger credits deprecated operations in China, and M. Goblet, ex-

Minister, who expressed similar views. The success of the Opposition in four bureaux is regarded as a slight rebuff for the Governmont, being a larger proportion than usually results. But only 300 Deputies were present out of 550, and it is closr that the Radicals and Realists. The aggregate votes of the latter amount to 160, while those of the Opposition come to 115. Those Ministers who are Deputies attended their respective bureaux; but by prior agreement were silent, reserving their explanations for the Committee. It would be a great mistake were Chinese diplomatists -so apt to misconstrue Fronch Parliamentary proceedings-to regard to-day's results as an encouragement to prolong the war. The true inference is that France is bent on forcing Chins into a speedy settle-

In the Chamber to-day there was again a disenssion on Tonquin Committee of last session. M. Forry, in reply to M. Rivière, dwelt on the confidential character of the explanations given to that Committee by himself and M. Bourés. He urged that public affairs, especially military and diplomatic, could not be carried on if nothing were to be kept serect. Diplomacy was not oried from the house tops, and plans of campaign or mobilization could not be revealed to the whole world, in the presence of an enemy informed of everything that passed in the Chamber and even in the lobbies. The secrecy would not, moreover, be indefinite, but would coase. with the circumstances necessitating it. A motion for the publication of the minutes was then negatived by 294 votes to 191 .- Times.

LONDON, 7th November. The Under-Secretary for India, in reply to a question in the House of Commons, said he regretted the Mandalay atrocities, but wasnot aware if the Indian Government contemplated interfering in that quarter. OCCUPATION OF BERBERA.

BOMBAY, 29th October, To-day H. M. S. Ranger arrived in Bombay harbour from Adon. The vessel was recommissioned at Suskim in May, and was employed for the next two months in the Red Sea: since then she has been engaged in the Gulf of Alen, principally at Berbera, in conjunction with its evacuation by the Egyptians, and subsequent occupation by Mr. Prendergast Walsh, of the Bombay Political Department, and a police force, under treaties with the Ayub Ahmed tribe of Somalis. She reports intense heat at Berbers, the thermometer seldom falling below

RIOT AT COLOMBO. COLOMEO, 11th November. A riot in Colombo which at one time looked as though it would have been of a serious nature, has passed over without any worse results than a few broken heads and flesh wounds. The disturbance originated in a gambling quarreland spread till it became a fight between Sinhslese Mantie and Moormen, in which hundreds were engaged on either side for some three days. During this time a large part of the Pettah was given up to the ricters, and the streets rendered impassible by the rowdies.

SUMMARY JUSTICE IN MANDALAY. RANGOON, 31st October. A Mandalay telegram says that, in consequence of the increase of crime in Upper Burmah, Royal orders have been issued directing that any thief caught is to be killed, without monity being made as to his relatives. This will be aconvenient pretext for getting rid of any political enemies, or for ministers to relieve themselves of the presence of obnoxious followers who know too much of their coquetting with any of the princes in exile. Any one found drunk is to receive fifty lashes, and the sale of liquor to the Barometer Barmese is prohibited." A PACTION FIGHT AND GERAT EXCITEMENT

AL HIDERABAD. SECUNDERABAM 3rd November. A faction fight occurred in the city on Thursday. Several persons were killed and wounded. The disturbance crose from the police attendants of Mir Ala Khan insisting that an elephant, upon which rode the children of Nawaz Jung, should turn back to allow the passage through a narrow street of an elephant ridden by their master. The police struck Nawaz Jung's elephant and attendants. The former belted home. Nawaz then ordered his Arabs to attack the police killing seven and wounding four. The police subsequently deserted their posts throughout the city, aireid even to use their uniform. The Chudderghat Volunteers and Residency guard remained under arms for some 4th November. Navas Jung has surrendered. The Commission sat yesterday, but their decision is unknown. The excitement has abated. THE BETIRING VICEROY.

BOMBAY, 2nd November. The Committee of the Bombay Millomers Association are considering a proposal made by one of their number, that, as representative of the most important local industry, the Association should present an address to Lord Ripon, in recognition of the Viceroy's encouragement to Indian local trades.

BURNING OLD LOVE-LETTERS. I take them with reverent fingers; These tokens of passions now dead ; The lines full of tenderest yearning, Through which your love esemed to be burning. Can move me as when first I read.

know love is now stranger to us, Our paths in the world no er will meet. And yet as I burn these old letters I wish once again for the fatters You broke, though I thought thom so awest.

And now nothing's left to remind me Of the days when our love was so true, But still as I gaze through wet taches At the fire where amoulder the ashes, I sigh for the past -and for you. Buston Transcript.
